P&Z studies zoning changes

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission plans to vote tonight on recommendations to amend the city's zoning ordinance.

The meeting, set for 7:30 tonight at City Hall, will give the commission a chance to review a new proposal drafted by attorneys John Scafile and Donald Rafferty at Mayor Edward Favre's request.

The proposal, which Scafile presented copies of to the City Council at its meeting Tuesday and the Planning and Zoning Commission at its Monday workshop, suggests changes to two zoning amendments proposed in late 1990 and tabled last year. The two amendments would extend current zoning to the city limits in the Bay of St. Louis and the Mississippi Sound, and would limit dockside gambling to areas zoned for commercial use.

The Scafile/Rafferty proposal would further limit gaming to areas adjacent to a commercial highway district. In effect, dockside gaming would be contained to Mardi Gras Casino Corporation's planned casino site at the foot of the Bay bridge.

The proposal further states that gaming will be subject to restrictions regarding size and location of operations; traffic; protection of adjacent properties, neighborhood character, and property value; transportation, parking, water supply, fire and police protection and waste disposal; and site, design, and regulatory guidelines set out in the consultants' gaming study.

The City Council plans to meet Friday at 5 p.m. If the

Supervisors '92

Ladner elected president; appointments announced

BY TRACI BONNEY

In its first official meeting Monday, the new all-male board of supervisors spent much of its time conducting routine first-of-the-year county business.

The board elected District 5 supervisor Mike Ladner as board president for the four-year term (with the option of rescinding the vote and electing someone else next year if the board chooses), and District 4 supervisor Wilmer Seymour as vice president for a one-year period.

Newly elected District 2 Supervisor Alton "Dolph" Kellar requested a truck and a phone number with a 255 prefix. He said the phone number will allow his constituents to call him without incurring a long distance charge to him or themselves by calling his home number, a Picayune 798 listing.

Concerning the truck, he said he will need transportation. His predecessor, Ronald Cuevas, had used a personal vehicle and cellular phone instead of a radio-equipped county vehicle.

Chancery clerk Mike Necaise said he will take care of the phone number, and road superintendent Sam Cuevas told Kellar he will check into the transportation situation.

Kellar also asked a few questions about issues that have come before the board in recent months.

BEACH RENOURISHMENT

Concerning the sand beach renourishment, he said some people in the county that he has spoken with are confused about the board's issuing a general obligation bond for the project.

Gerald Gex assured Kellar the project monies are coming from the seawall fund, and the bond is only a contingency emergency measure.

TEXAS FLAT ROAD

Kellar asked about the Texas Flat Road project funding and the state's maintenance of the road once the project is complete, and about Bay St. Louis's planned annexation of the Bay Cove area.

Japanese musicians make Waveland stop

By T. H. (DOC) TOUPS

Traffic slowed on Hwy. 603 Saturday afternoon as a group of Japanese musicians ran down that road on one leg of a cross-country musical adventure. What motorists saw was the percussion group Za Ondekoza, which translated means "demon drummer."

The 11-member group is traveling across the U.S. on foot, during a three-year performing tour. They ran through Hancock County over the weekend on their way to a New Orleans engagement.

The musicians play traditional Japanese music, which they rearrange to be "more visual," according to Marco Lienhard, the only non-Japanese member of the group.

Lienhard, who is Swiss and the only English speaking person in the band, said the group regularly runs 20 to 30 miles a day. A van, carrying their personal belongings and instruments, follows them.

The group was founded in 1969 in Japan by Tagayusu Den. Though its members hail from various parts of Japan, their base is the city of Nagoya.

With Lienhard acting as translator, members of the group shared their observations about America and their experiences on the road.

Masaru Shigenobu, who plays the large "shauhachi" flute said, "The U.S. is very big, but very nice—the people have heart." He added, "I am sometimes homesick, but I made a promise to finish this tour, and as a man I must abide by that."

Ms. Yasuko Takakubo, the second senior member of the

Waveland approves Bayou Caddy site

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Waveland Board of Aldermen unanimously approved the proposed site location for the Bayou Caddy-Casino gaming facility Tuesday.

The three officers and stockholders of the Bayou Caddy Casino Inc., Mike Smith, John Kingsbury and George Baxter, appeared before the board to request a letter stating that the City of Waveland had no objections to the Bayou Cadet (Caddy) site.

Baxter said, "We are here as good neighbors, reporting on our progress."

"We submitted our gaming license application last month,

Car phone, police car purchases scrutinized

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Alderman Stan Weidman objected to the purchase of car phones and new police cars for the Waveland Police Department at Tuesday night's meeting.

Police Chief James Varnell told Weidman the standard police radio is practically a useless item today.

"There are many things that cannot be said over the radio," Varnell explained. "We have found the car phone to be invaluable during an investigation."

Weidman questioned the proposed purchase of five car phones, including three for the police department, one for the fire chief and one for the head of the utilities department.

Mayor Stella Frilot said the request was made by the heads of the three city departments. Utility head Michael Barnes told Weidman the phone would aid him in his job since he was on the road most of the day.

Each phone will cost $199 for installation and $19.95 per month to operate, in addition to

McCullough named to Port/Harbor Commission

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors issued the following appointments and reappointments at their Monday meeting:

Reappointed were board attorney Gerald Gex, county controller Ken Walker, purchase clerk Suzette Beech, county engineer Larry Seal, Civil Defense director Bobby Boudin, road maintenance superintendent Sam Cuevas; county auditor, Justice Court judge, clerk and deputy clerks; public defender and assistant defenders, deputy circuit court clerks, bookkeepers and board of supervisors secretaries, and redemption clerks.

New appointments included Joe McCullough, District 3 representative to the Port and Harbor Commission, replacing Ronald Artigues; A.L. Franklin, District 2 representative for the Park Commission, replacing Janice Berry; and C.A. Russ III, District 2 Planning Commission representative, replacing Woodrow Ladner.

Frilot chooses Conery for P&H

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Waveland Board of Aldermen approved Marsha Conery as the city's recommendation for Hancock Port and Harbor Commissioner Tuesday.

Mayor Stella Frilot proposed that Conery replace Nancy Gex, who has served on the commission for eight years as Waveland's representative. Gex was appointed by former Mayor John Longo.

By law, the seven-member Port and Harbor Commission is appointed by the governor. Each county supervisor, along with the mayors of Waveland and Bay St. Louis, recommend a representative.

Gex reported she will complete her term, which expires in January, as she is currently involved in several ongoing projects.

"I know that it takes a little time before the governor makes the appointments, so I will remain until that time to insure that the City of Waveland is not left unrepresented."

Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman addressed Conery, who was seated in the audience, and said, "Please do not take this as a disapproval of you, ma'am, but I vote 'no' to letting Mrs. Gex go."

The recommendation passed three to one.

"I...do solemnly swear..."

Among those county officials sworn in Monday at the county courthouse were (from left) Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler; Supervisor Wilmer Seymour; Constable Steve Garber; supervisors Alton "Dolph" Kellar, Robert "Pete" Peterson and Mike Ladner; Chancery Clerk Mike Necaise; Superintendent of Education Myrna Bourgeois; Constable Leo Ladner (behind Bourgeois); Coroner/Medical Examiner Norma Stiglet; county school board trustee Cheryl Bennett; Justice Court Judges Lee Klein and Joe Dobson; Tax Assessor/Collector Edward Murtagh; and Sheriff Ronald Peterson. Not pictured but also sworn in was supervisor Howard Lizana. (Photo by T.H. (Doc) Troups)

When asked about her most and least enjoyable experiences of the trip, she said the thing she disliked most was people throwing things at the runners from their cars. This had happened twice since crossing into Mississippi, she said.

On a brighter note, she said that she really appreciated "all of the good people who have helped us out along the way." With a quiet giggle she then confessed that she liked "playing music better than running."

Seventeen-year-old Akio Nakashima said his favorite American food was pizza, but added that he didn't care for American candy. "It is too sweet. In Japan, our candy and dessert is not nearly as sweet."

DOCKET

Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman voted against paying the city docket following discussion on the reimbursement of costs for two months' worth of phone calls made by the mayor from her car phone.

City attorney Lucien Gex said the mayor could claim the costs of the calls as part of her expenses, since the calls were in the execution of city business.

Duke Levy of Duke Levy and Associates, P.A., entered into contract with the board as the city's engineer.

Levy will be paid a salary for basic contract work and will receive contract pay on special projects.

Frilot said city planner Ray Eaton will continue to be Fire chief David Garcia was not present at the meeting.

Weidman also questioned the necessity for the city to purchase two automobiles for police usage.

Ward 3 Alderman Curtis Colson said the purchase of the two cars was budgeted for the new year. The estimated cost per vehicle is $11,995.10.

Weidman asked Varnell why officers could not rotate vehicles between shifts.

Varnell said wear and tear on each vehicle has been proven to increase overall expense. He added many police departments are moving to the one driver, one vehicle concept.

Larry Seal explained the Texas Flat Road project's funding and status to Kellar. Seal said the $5 million grant is all state money, and the $500,000 the board pledged for the completion of the last 2.9 miles of the project (to be started within five years of the initial project's completion) may come from county State Aid Road funds.

Gex answered Kellar's question concerning the annexation, saying the county does not currently have any agreement with the city concerning potential revenues from a dockside gambling operation at Bay Cove.

A workshop was set for 9 a.m. Friday to further discuss the matter.

The board took under advisement a request from Harrison County officials for Hancock County to share the cost of an audit of the Coast's seawall tax fund; renewed a contract with International Oil for the disposition of the county's waste oil; accepted bids for liquid propane, legal advertising, bank depositories and pest control; placed under advisement bids for office and janitorial supplies; and rejected a gas and oil bid which did not comply with specifications.

The board also approved the county's second quarter tax appropriation, the minutes from the December 1991 meetings, the authorization of the election commissioners' checks, a low quote for roofing work at the Diamondhead Fire Department (to be paid for out of fire department funds), and the appointment of Jim Maness to the Clermont Harbor/Lakeshore Fire Protection District commission.

The board recessed to January 15, 9 a.m.

Bay appoints Vanney public works director

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Bay St. Louis City Council appointed Ronald Vanney as public works director Tuesday.

The council unanimously approved Mayor Edward Favre's recommendation of Vanney, a Bay St. Louis resident since 1982 and a 14-year employee of Gulf Coast Fabrications. Vanney, 38, supervised crews with as many as 85 members during his job at Gulf Coast Fabrications.

Vanney replaces former public works director Norbert Redmond. Vanney's starting salary will be $36,000 a year, Favre said.

In a city press release, Vanney stated, "I look forward to the challenges of my new position. Our department will continue to deliver quality services to the community. We will execute work supervision changes to increase efficiency and accountability, as well as employee recognition for accomplishments."

METER TAMPERING

The council also approved a resolution in support of proposed legislation dealing with utility meter tampering.

Mayor Favre explained that state Rep. J.P. Compretta is working on legislation that will authorize municipalities to prosecute those utility customers caught tampering with their gas, water and electric meters to reduce their bills. At this time, only private electric and utility companies are allowed to prosecute such cases, even though many cities do provide electricity, water and gas to residents.

The council, after hearing Favre's explanation and request for a resolution, unanimously voted to support Compretta's efforts.

SIGN VARIANCE

During her report, clerk of council Mike Cuevas informed the council members that Charles Lambert has withdrawn his application for a city sign regulation variance for his planned dockside casino at Bay Cove.

Lambert said he is postponing his request for the variance while he considers alternate designs for the planned sign on Hwy. 90. He explained that the original design does fit marketing professionals' recommendations, but he isn't sure the community is ready to receive a sign of "that size and that much pizzazz."

A public hearing on the application, set for 7:30 tonight, has been cancelled.

PUBLIC FORUM

Clement Toca, a North Beach Boulevard resident, asked the council to do something about various problems he said the old A&G Theater building is causing for him and his neighbors.

Toca said the building is cracked on the side adjacent to his house and on the front, which could give either him or the city trouble, depending on which direction the building

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Of interest to soccer players and fans will be a tournament Saturday and Sunday at the Seminary Field in Bay St. Louis off Highway 90.

Some 20 teams from the coastal area involving boys teams under eight years of age and under 10 will be involved in the two affairs.

Neil Favre, spokesman for Bay Area Youth Soccer (BAYS), said this tournament is to kick off the spring play.

Teams scheduled for the tourney include BAYS, Biloxi, Gulfport and Singing River. The BAYS teams are from the Bay-Waveland area.

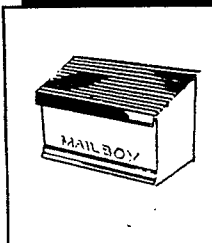

The tournament is sponsored by the BAYS club with Art Rieben, tournament director.

Play is from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday.

Soccer is becoming more and more popular in our area, and there are many high schools in the state with teams.

I am hoping there will be a lot of fan participation at the tournament, and remember, admission for spectators is free.

If there are parents of youngsters interested in soccer, give Rieben a call at 467-6267; or Virginia Kenny, 467-4989.

I read this slogan a long time ago, and now that the legislature is in session, I thought it should be passed on to our readers:

Defense spending plan will maintain defense, provide Mississippi jobs

U.S. Senator Trent Lott has praised an agreement completed recently between House and Senate negotiators that authorizes $290.8 billion for the Department of Defense in 1992.

"It has been a tough fight this year to keep the Congress from turning the defense budget into a piggy bank to fund all types of non-military pet projects all over the world. Some even wanted to pay for a billion dollar job program for the Soviet military out of the U.S. defense budget. That's about the craziest idea that I've ever heard," said Lott, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the joint House-Senate conference committee that put the plan together.

"I have felt all along that gutting our military would be very unwise and we have prevented that for at least this year, I am sure that we will have substantial cuts in the future, but it is critical that we not go too far too soon," Lott said. "The world is still evolving and we don't know exactly what we'll be facing five years from now so it is important that we maintain a strong posture for now."

Lott said Mississippi will continue to play an important role in maintaining a strong defense. The defense plan includes acquisition of new planes, ships, weapons and equipment that will be purchased from Mississippi suppliers. And, the plan also provides funds for improvements at a number of Mississippi military bases and national guard facilities.

"I think that we have developed a blueprint for DOD that should continue to provide us with a means for maintaining a strong national defense," said Lott. "It is also a good plan for Mississippi because it will help to provide jobs at some of our major defense contractors."

Following is a listing of projects and purchases that affect Mississippi.

—Pascagoula River Bridge, $5,000,000.

Design and engineering work for a new US-90 bridge over the Pascagoula River. The bridge can be part of the Defense Budget, because it would be considered a "defense access road" because it serves the Pascagoula Homeport and Ingalls Shipbuilding as well as other traffic.

—Gulf States Counter-Drug Initiative, approximately $15,000,000. Establishes a law enforcement academy in Meridian for training state and local law officers in drug interdiction (approximately $4.5 million); establishes a cooperative effort between Miss., La., and Ala. state and local governments and the National Guard and Reserves for drug interdiction. (Project is fully authorized but is anticipated that only $7.5 million will be funded the first year).

—Shipbuilding, $871,019,000.

Includes 5 DDG-51 Aegis Guided Missile Destroyers of which two or three would likely be built at Ingalls in Pascagoula

(4,110,105,000); Includes 3 MHC Coastal Mine Hunters. Avondale Shipyards of Gulfport is the second source supplier and would likely receive a contract for at least one (361,096,000);

Includes direction to spend funds authorized, but not spent last year for Fast Sealift. The funds would pay for four or five ships, some of which could be built at Ingalls in Pascagoula (1,270,000,000);

Includes 2 Oceanographic Ships for the Navy. Trinity Marine in Moss Point has supplied some of these ships in the past and could receive the contract to supply one of the ships (129,818,000).

—Weapons Procurement, $339,522,000.

Acquisition of 108 MK-48 advanced capability torpedoes for the Navy. Hughes of Forest is the primary supplier would likely receive a large portion of the order (220,833,000);

Advance procurement of MK-48 advanced capability torpedoes for the Navy. Hughes would likely receive a large portion of these funds (74,490,000);

Acquisition of EPLARS (Enhanced Position and Location Reporting System) for the Army. Hughes is a single source supplier (44,199,000).

—Military Construction total, $36,255,000.

Camp McCain: Modify Targeting System (546,000); Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg: Addition to maintenance facility (600,000); pave training roads (1,200,000).

Columbus Air Force Base: Alter Squadron Operations Facility (600,000); Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi: Squadron Facility (3,400,000).

Kay Field, Meridian: Fuel Cell Corrosion Control (4,500,000); upgrade ramps (13,370,000).

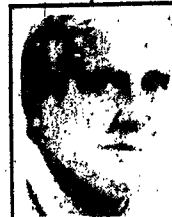

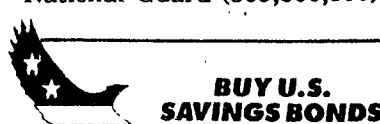

Marks Armory: construction of armory (200,000); Navy Seabee Base, Gulfport: warehouse (7,000,000); NAS Meridian: fire station expansion (418,000); fire station training (1,200,000).

Senatobia Armory: organizational maintenance shop (723,000); Tupelo Armory: overhaul maintenance facility (992,000).

Various locations: mobile fire training sites (306,000); West Point Armory: organizational maintenance shop (1,200,000).

—Aircraft Construction $775,279,000.

Includes funding for eight C-130H aircraft for the active duty Air Force. Large sections of these planes are built by Lockheed in Meridian (245,479,000); includes funding for eight C-130 aircraft for the Air Force Reserve. Large sections of these are built by Lockheed in Meridian (200,000,000); includes funding for 12 C-130 aircraft for the Wyoming Air National Guard (309,800,000).

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Record reform legislation facing legislators

There is an abundance of reform legislation—more than I can remember at one time—being pushed at the 1992 session of the Mississippi Legislature, much of it having been given apparent public endorsement in the 1991 elections.

But if the past is prologue in matters legislative, it would be quite presumptuous to assume that the Legislature, even with lots of new faces and possibly having to go back to the people for re-election before the year is out, is going to pass much, or any, of it.

Among the reforms which are swirling around the legislative chambers are:

—Initiative and Referendum: (to reinstate the power of the people to put legislative or constitutional changes on the ballot by petition, a power Mississippians had from 1916 to 1922).

—Term limitation: (to limit state officials to two four-year terms and legislators to three four-term terms).

—Require the House-Senate conference committees must hold open meetings: (Joint legislative rules now do not provide for open meetings of conference committees, and traditionally they are closed).

—Abolish the fee-paid system for Circuit and Chancery clerks: (a long-sought move to put the clerks on a fixed salary, rather than retaining an unlimited amount of fees after paying for operation of their offices).

—Regulation of lobbyists: (toughen existing lobbying law which is full of loopholes, allowing lobbyists to get by without reporting names of legislators on whom they spend money entertaining).

Of the five reforms above, perhaps the restoration of initiative and referendum, albeit in some watered-down form, has the best chance of getting through the Legislature because of the momentum behind it.

Not only has incoming Gov. Kirk Fordice made I & R a part of his "people empowerment" program, but a broad legislative movement led by Secretary of State Dick Molpus and a group of lawmakers has been launched to give the people power to put propositions on the ballot.

Mississippians had been made more aware of the I & R issue two years ago when Atty. Gen. Mike Moore and two legislators tried unsuccessfully to revive initiative and referendum in a suit before the state Supreme Court tied to repealing the constitutional ban on lotteries.

The Molpus-backed proposal calls for "indirect" referendum, giving the Legislature a second chance to enact a proposition before it goes on the ballot. His measure would require a petition of 8 percent of the vote in the last gubernatorial to initiate a statute and 10 percent for a constitutional change, both considered at the "high" end of the I & R spectrum.

In a surprise political development, Fordice and Moore may jointly sponsor their own version of Initiative and Referendum which will differ from the Molpus proposal, possibly lowering the petition threshold and limiting issues to be put on the ballot.

Term limitation, which also has Fordice's backing, is expected to get a good ride, particularly if incoming Lt. Gov. Eddie Briggs pushes through early his proposal to limit the lieutenant governor to two terms, a key issue which contributed to the defeat of three-term Lt. Gov. Brad Dye.

But the indications are that lawmakers will exclude themselves from any term limit constitutional amendment, while probably putting a two-term limit on elected state officials. The governor is already limited to two terms.

Abolishing the fee-paid system many lawmakers consider to be a land-mine they don't want to encounter because of the local political clout of circuit and chancery clerks. As some lawmakers say, "It's an issue that doesn't move voters, so why should we touch it?"

Opening conference committees to the public and press is one of the last bastions of old guardism around the Legislature and will be a tough nut to ever crack. Behind the closed doors of conference committees, says Sen. Robert Monty of Greenville, "is where the most diabolical things in the legislative process are done."

Monty is again pushing his bill to open them, and he may have help this time, because several new legislators were elected on that issue.

Many lawmakers don't think anybody but good government groups and editorial boards of newspapers worry about the free run that lobbyists now have around the state Capitol and who they wine and dine.

But then they could be wrong. The voters aren't fools always.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

Listen to the people

Mississippi voters know what they want from the 1992 Legislature and from the new Governor. The message, delivered in a recent statewide poll of voters, is easily understood.

In the statewide voters' poll conducted by the Mississippi Economic Council, the voters said this:

—We want better management of government.

—We want improved use of present tax dollars before anyone even considers a tax increase—for any purpose.

—We want better balance in the state's civil justice system. (This means voters recognize that escalating liability lawsuits and the threat of lawsuits is costing them money.)

—We want greater participation in government through the initiative and referendum process.

Interestingly, that's exactly what Governor Fordice is offering: more efficiency in government, no tax increase, support for tort reform and products liability legislation, and initiative and referendum.

And it may well be that the Legislature has heard the message and is ready to respond positively to it.

This can be a great year for Mississippi, if the Governor and the Legislature listen to the people.

He requested that the city have fire chief Andrew Lizana, building inspector Kevin Fitzpatrick and health inspector Tom Pope survey the building and put in writing their findings that the building is safe and not a fire, health or structural hazard, if they can honestly do so.

The council members and mayor said they will contact Lizana and Fitzpatrick, but that Pope has to be authorized by the state to inspect the building, since he is a state employee.

James Hamilton requested, as he has in the past, that the council take definite action concerning the condition of Carl Hodges' property on Carroll Avenue. Hamilton, a neighbor of Hodges, said the city has dealt with Hodges several times about the lawn mowers, bicycles and other items in his yard, but every time Hodges cleans up the broken items and the city leaves him alone, the items start piling up again.

The council agreed to tackle the matter once again.

OTHER BUSINESS

The council heard reports from Cuevas, municipal clerk Kay Johnson, Favre, attorney John Scaife and purchasing agent Gordon Boh; approved the purchase of a Case backhoe tractor for $29,973 and authorized the purchase of reversible stabilizer pads for the backhoe at $533 or less; held an executive session to discuss a personnel matter; came out of the session and re-appointed Russell Elliot as the city's representative to the Port and Harbor Commission, contingent on Governor Fordice's approval; moved their second regular January meeting from January 21 to January 28 because of the Mississippi Municipal Association's midwinter conference; then adjourned to 5 p.m. Friday.

Community blood drawing Saturday at Methodist

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

An American Red Cross community blood drawing will be held Saturday, 1-3:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Main Street United Methodist Church, Main and Second streets, Bay St. Louis.

A goal of 35 units has been set for this drive, Rev. Van Carpenter, pastor, reports.

Lisa Olson, Red Cross donor resources development coordinator, said on Tuesday, "Because of the exclusion of those who served in Operation Desert Storm, the high number of cases of flu and sickness and the recent holiday season, a crisis has been created, and there is an urgent need."

"This is the second time Main Street Methodist sponsors a community blood drive, and I feel it is of the utmost importance for those capable to please make a donation of one unit of blood," Carpenter said.

John Rutherford, Hancock County Blood Bank chairman, stated that he is assisting with the drive, because the blood supply is "extremely short."

Persons seeking further information can call the church's office at 467-4538 or Carpenter's residence at 467-6030.

Mantovani Orchestra to perform at Saenger

Tickets are now available for the Mantovani Orchestra presentation, "The Magic of Mantovani," being performed at the Saenger Theatre in Biloxi Monday, Feb. 3. Mary Mahoney's Old French House Restaurant is sponsoring the Biloxi stop of this touring orchestra.

The orchestra, named after famous composer, arranger and conductor Annunzio Paolo Mantovani, will give one performance at 8 p.m.

The Gulf Coast Arts Council and the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center are co-promoters of the event.

Born in Venice to a violinist father, Mantovani, even at an early age, had a keen interest in music. After moving to London with his family as a child, he studied piano, harmony, and counterpoint. Later, at age 14, he took up the instrument that would make him famous—the violin.

As a young man Mantovani played in touring orchestras, led hotel orchestras and dance bands, and performed recitals in great halls.

Eventually, he formed his own orchestra with 28 strings at its centerpiece. Composing, arranging, and transcribing for his orchestra, he created a smooth "tumbling" sound, that was soon to be known as "The Mantovani Sound."

Mantovani became an international star with his version of melodies such as "Greensleeves," "Moulin Rouge," "Exoduis," and "Moon River."

In 1955 he received a gold record from Decca/London for the one million copies of "Charmaine," (his signature melody) sold—a figure practically unheard of in those days. During his lifetime he sold over 35 million records and toured in countries around the world.

Although it has been over 10 years since his death, his spirit lives on through the present-day Mantovani Orchestra. Today audiences will find 41 performers on stage, dressed the way Mantovani wished—formally, in white tie and tails—performing classics such as "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," "Carmen Fantasy," "Ramona," and "Puppet on a String." The orchestra will be conducted by Richard Cormier, and the featured soloist will be Cristina Fontanelli.

Tickets for the event are available at the Coliseum Box Office and all TicketMaster outlets for $15, general admission.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy
McGuire Caire

If these early days of the new year find you with your food budget on the "skinny" side and your waistline on the "bulging side" after all the holiday cooking and feasting—"not to worry!"

It's our area supermarkets to the rescue with just-right solutions to both; bargains on the more thrifty cuts of meat, and special savings on whole chickens as well as chicken parts, along with mountains of those ever so healthful and health-wise deep orange vegetables of winter, the yams and carrots and acorn squash. There are also good buys in those other meal-stretching staples, rice and pasta and Russett potatoes (red or white, as you choose).

There are also special savings on those all-purpose yellow onions and in cabbage and celery as well. So, mix your choices all up together in one pot, for top-stove or oven or crock pot cookery and such, and let your meal just about cook itself with little attention required from the cook along the way!

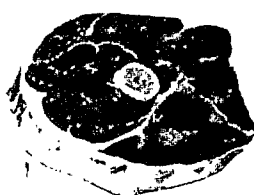

Hearty stews and all-in-one-dish meals and casseroles fit the appetite and budget requirements as in the classic Creole-Cajun pot-au-feu (pot on the fire is the literal translation, or boiled beef, and the Dutch "hot pot" and the traditional New England boiled dinner (with corned beef brisket and cabbage and potatoes and so forth). Just about every country and culture has its own version of this hearty and filling meal.

I like beef bottom round or chuck roast for my beef bouilli or pot roasts, usually. But I've just added this smaller-scale recipe to my culinary collection; I tried it for the first time yesterday, and enjoyed it.

It's from that delightful cookbook, "Cajun Cuisine—Authentic Recipes from Louisiana's Bayou Country" (Beau Bayou Publishing Co., Lafayette, La.) Here's:

BOEUF A LA MODE
1 lb. beef round steak,
1.2-inch thick

Salt, black pepper and cayenne pepper to taste
6 large carrots, peeled and cut lengthwise into thin strips
1/2 lb. bacon
1/2 cup oil
2 onions, chopped
1 bell (green) pepper, chopped
2 ribs celery, chopped
2 tsp. garlic powder
6 to 8 potatoes, peeled and cut into bite-size pieces
1 cup water

Pound the steak and season to taste with salt, pepper and cayenne. Place carrots and bacon slices on steak, and roll up jelly-roll fashion. Fasten securely. Brown the steak roll in oil until brown on all sides. Add onions, bell pepper, celery and garlic powder and saute until onions are transparent.

Add potatoes and water, cover and slowly cook until steak is tender—approximately 1 hour. (4 servings)

Good news: those Navel oranges, in from California, are down in price just now. Florida grapefruit and oranges are in good supply, at good prices.

Zoning

Planning and Zoning Commission recommends approval of the proposal and the council accepts it this week, the resulting zoning amendments will not affect a proposed resort/casino development at Bay Cove Harbour.

Rafferty said, "Bay Cove is coming in under a special use exception, assuming the annexation goes through."

A special use exception allows a type of development not usually permitted in a certain zoning category.

Johnson recognized

Parents of handicapped children asked to contact local schools

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland and Hancock County school districts are participating in an ongoing state effort to locate and evaluate children from birth through age 21 who have handicaps and who are not enrolled in school.

The school district provides services for the following handicaps: speech language, specific learning disabilities, educationally handicapped, visually impaired, hearing impaired, physically handicapped and emotionally handicapped.

Early identification of children in need of special educational experiences is most important to each child.

Furthermore, this information gathered from contacts with parents and other agencies will be used to help determine present and future program needs as progress is made toward a goal of providing free appropriate public education to all handicapped children in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland and Hancock County districts.

Information that could identify the handicapped individual is protected by the school district in accordance with the Family Rights and Privacy Act and EHAB. Parents have the right to inspect information about a child and challenge its accuracy.

Persons with handicapped children who are 21 years old or younger, are encouraged to contact the Bay St. Louis-Waveland and Hancock County schools' Child Find coordinator Sherry M. Ponder at 740 Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis, 39520, telephone 467-1021 or 467-2031.

Ponder will assist parents in having their children evaluated and placed in or referred to appropriate programs.

St. Paul students portray 'A Charlie Brown Christmas'

St. Paul Catholic School presented its annual Christmas program Tuesday, Dec. 17, to the enjoyment of families and friends.

Entitled "A Charlie Brown Christmas" and adapted from the television program of the same name, the play follows the adventures of Charlie Brown as he discovers the true meaning of Christmas.

Principal cast members included David Byrne as Charlie Brown, Laura Farris as Lucy, Sarah Luster as Sally, Jimmy Reaver as Linus, and David Webb as Snoopy. The supporting cast was made up of all the students of St. Paul.

The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Bebler, fourth grade teacher, and Ms. Marquez, second grade teacher, and accompanied by Mrs. Joyce Sutherland, provided musical interludes during the play.

The play was directed by Mrs. Yockey, religion teacher. She was assisted by the members of the St. Paul faculty.

Prior to the beginning of the play, pre-kindergarten and kindergarten students entertained the audience with a selection of songs and stories. Also providing musical entertainment was a group of students who performed in song and on the piano.

Another highlight of the evening was the display of gingerbread houses made by the fourth grade class.

Rocks host Bay High Friday

Roundball Express to perform at halftime

BY JANET MCQUEEN

A pint-sized version of the Harlem Globetrotters will entertain fans Friday evening during the St. Stanislaus-Bay High basketball game.

The Roundball Express basketball showteam, sponsored by the Hattiesburg Recreation Department, features talented ballhandlers ages 6-12.

The team has performed many times at various college halftime shows, including Louisiana State University, University of Southern Mississippi, Mississippi State University, William Carey and others.

"The kids' show is worth the price of admission," said St. Stanislaus coach Jay Ladner. "We were quite lucky to get them here."

Ladner stated the smaller children emerge from a large Coke machine wheeled onto the court, to the tune of the Harlem Globetrotters' theme.

The players, who are selected by tryouts, are selected for ballhandling skills.

Following the halftime performance, the crosstown rivalry of the SSC Rock-A-Chaws and the Bay High Tigers will continue on the court.

The Rocks will attempt to even the score, following a loss to the Tigers earlier in the season.

"It should be a close game, closer than the last one," said Bay High coach Mark Collins. "The kids are always up for the SSC game...it's a big rivalry."

The junior varsity game will begin at 6 p.m., followed by the varsity contest.

Bay Optimist sailor competes in Italy

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Bay resident and Coast Episcopal High School student Alan Uram placed 55th over 109 participants in the Ninth European Championship Optimist Class sailing races in Italy.

Uram, 13, a junior sailor with the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, was one of eight United States youths to have qualified for the European competition.

"We left on Christmas Day and flew to New York City," he reported. "Our flight was delayed, so we didn't arrive in Rome until the next day."

"As soon as we got there, we went to Anzio Bay and I began practicing."

Uram said there were four days of actual racing.

The teenager said he was pleased with his placement considering it was his first time in the international arena.

"I hope to be there again next year," Uram added. "I plan to practice every Saturday and Sunday until April when the trials take place again."

"I need to improve on my starts and to concentrate on one race at a time. I need to continue to do my best."

Uram concluded, saying only the top five competitors received trophies. "Big ones," he said as his hands grew apart in space indicating their size. "Who knows? Maybe next year."

Other U.S. Optimist sailors who participated were: Chris Gaffney, placing 41st; Willem Young, 106th; and Patrick Hirt, 109th.

Girls competing in a field of 71 were: Anne Marie Case, placing 20th; Christina Bickley, 46th; and Angela Garcia, 48th.

Tigers fall to Pirates

BY JANET MCQUEEN
Bay High was defeated by Pass Christian in boys' basketball Monday night, 74-60.

Coach Mark Collins attributed the loss to a poor performance after halftime. "As a team, we shot poorly in the second half. To compound the problem, we threw the ball away 21 times," he said.

James Ricks led the Tigers in scoring with 13 points, and in rebounds, with 14.

Others scoring were Tripp Whavers, 12; Travis Collins, 11; Kevin Hodges, 7; Shane Burch, 6; Brian Necaise, 5; Russell Fairconnetue, 4; and Tristian Robertson, 2.

Rebound leaders were Necaise, 9; Hodges, 8; and Whavers, 6. Burch contributed 6 assists and Robertson had 3 steals.

The loss dropped the Tigers' record to 6-10 overall and 3-3 in conference play.

Prior to the Christmas holidays, they defeated Forrest County AHS 68-64 in a close contest. "We came from behind in the fourth period to win," said Collins.

Leading the scoring were Tripp Whavers, 20; Tristian Robertson, 14; Travis Collins and James Ricks, 9; Kevin Hodges, 8; Russell Fairconnetue, 3; Brad Fredericks and Shane Burch, 2; and Brian Necaise, 1.

Ricks led in rebounds with 7, followed by Collins, 6; Whavers, 5; and Necaise, 1. Collins had 6 assists, followed by Whavers, 5; Burch, 4; and Robertson, 3.

"Travis hit clutch free throws to seal the win. In the first two periods, the team shot 56%, and in the second two periods, they shot 63%."

Last weekend, Bay High lost to Picaune and Hancock in the Picaune Tournament.

In the 89-64 defeat by Picaune, Tripp Whavers scored 19 points; Tristian Robertson, 17; James Ricks, 12; Kevin Hodges, 7; Russell Fairconnetue, 5; and Brad Fredericks and Shane Burch, each 2.

Fairconnetue was high scorer for the Tigers in the Hancock game with 17 points. Also scoring were Robertson, 15; Ricks, 10; Whavers, 9; Necaise, 6; Hodges, 5; and Danny Jackson, 2.

Harrison Central beats Hancock Hawks

Twenty-seven points scored by Hancock's Isaac Thomas weren't enough to help the Hawks to win Tuesday night's game with Harrison Central. The Red Rebels had six players scoring in double digits, boosting the score to 101-61.

Other Hancock players scoring were Tracy Lee, 12; Kendall Mitchell, 8; Darin Acker, 4; Loren Crowe, 4; Barrett Lohman, 2; Kelton Lagner, 2; and Julius Jackson, 2.

The Hancock team is now 11-6 for the season.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Ansley Road fishing site yields good catch of perch and bass

It's time to go fishin' y'all. This week the turtle got on his horse (or was it his car?) and headed down Lower Bay Road to the Ansley Cutoff. Then down Ansley Road towards LaFrance Fish Camp. Just before you get to the fish camp itself you will see a pipeline on the left side of the road. You can drive down the center of the pipeline, as long as the ground is dry, to the canal which is about two blocks from the main road. Some folks are reporting that they are catching some nice perch from the bank on this canal.

If you stay on the Ansley Road for a few more yards past the pipeline, you will see a small canal on your right. At the end of this canal you will see a railroad trestle. The trestle is about one-third of a mile from Ansley Road. The Turtle took a pirogue down this canal, all the way to the railroad trestle, and caught a real nice mess of perch along with four keeper huge-mouth bass. The catch was best about 15 feet from the trestle in the direction of the Ansley Road. There seems to be a deep hole, or let's say that the water is deeper, about 15 feet from the bridge. All of the fish, including the bass, were caught with grass shrimp.

The Turtle did notice that when the fish stopped biting in one spot, that if you pick up your anchor and drifted, or used a trolling motor and went slowly down the canal while working your grass shrimp in different areas, including the bottom, until you caught another fish, then stopped, that this was the most productive method.

Most of the perch caught were Shell Crackers which, all of the grass and weeds that were hanging in the water in this area produce grass shrimp if you passed your dip net through the stuff. So there was no need to bring your bait from elsewhere. All you needed was a dip net (small mesh) and a cup or a can for the grass shrimp and, of course, the most important ingredient, a fishin' buddy.

There are a whole bunch of canals and bayous in the Heron Bay area that are fishable from the road, so there is no excuse for not fishin'.

Incidentally, if you have a small boat with a small motor, you can launch your boat in the canal right after you cross the "High Rise Bridge" on the first canal on the right and take this canal to its end. Turn right, and after that hang on the left shore. This will take you to the trestle bridge. If you have a small boat and motor, this route will save you from having to use your "armstrong" motor.

For those folks who want to launch the easy way, you might check in with Totie at LaFrance's.

This week's wonderful wise words: Perch fishin' is special made to take a kid along.

Do you think that horses like to fish, turtle?

Proposed mariculture guidelines available for review at BMR

Proposed guidelines for the regulation of a mariculture activities in Mississippi coastal waters are now available for public review and criticism.

Copies may be obtained by contacting the Bureau of Marine Resources Coastal Management Section.

Mariculture is the cultivation of marine organisms.

The proposal comes at the end of a six-month study conducted by the Mississippi State University Sea Grant Cooperative Extension Service.

On Dec. 9, the state Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks issued a notice of intent to finally adopt the guidelines.

The proposal goes to the Secretary of State's office where it will be held for 30 days pending public review in comment.

After the waiting period the guidelines will go back to the commission for final approval. If the guidelines are finally adopted, they will become effective after another 30 days.

Larry Lewis, chief of BMR coastal management, said the guidelines will be used by regulatory agencies in evaluating mariculture programs to determine if they would pose a hazard to the environment.

The proposed guidelines also have been sent for review to more than 40 industrial organizations and conservation agencies in the country.

Project Marine Discovery has field trip openings available

Openings are still available in January and February for the Project Marine Discovery field trip program.

Sponsored cooperatively by the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium and the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory at GCRL's J. L. Scott Marine Education Center and Aquarium in Biloxi, the program invites school groups from nursery school age to 12th grade to explore marine and coastal environments, plants, animals and processes.

Project Marine Discovery introduces participants to the marine world through a variety of activities tailored to visiting students' ages. Participants in the popular field trip program last year totaled approximately 16,000 students, including groups from Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

The three-hour program for students in kindergarten through 12th grade will be offered 9 a.m.-noon Tuesdays through Thursdays and on first and third Mondays.

Project Marine Discovery ABC's, a one-hour program for three- and four-year-old nursery school groups, is offered at 9-10:15 a.m. on the second and fourth Mondays of the academic year.

Docents—trained volunteer instructors—take the groups through hands-on laboratory exercises, aquarium tours, sessions with live animals and other activities.

Special activities are also planned for groups who have participated in Project Marine Discovery in previous years.

Admission for the Project Marine Discovery program is $2 per student. Teachers or administrators may make reservations by calling 374-5550.
